

Television

1. Do you think television has changed in the past few decades?

In my opinion, the size of television and technology has changed while the fundamentals remain the same. Moreover, television shows are no longer confined to a single country, but have reached a number of other nations and are diversifying greatly in terms of content and audience performance.

2. Has television changed your life in any way?

There are both beneficial and harmful consequences of television. In my instance, I do not believe it has totally changed my life, but it has affected me in so many ways. I learned a great deal through watching the Discovery and Science Channels. While I squander an excessive amount of time watching movies and cartoons.

3. Do you think children are addicted to TV these days?

Yes, they are somewhat addicted to watching cartoons and pointless programmes on television. However, with the development of other technological devices, television has acquired a negative aspect.

4. Do you like to watch TV? – How often do you do it?

I enjoy watching television, but due to my busy schedule, I rarely do so. Moreover, as everything is now portable, whenever I have free time I prefer to view television programming on my mobile phone rather than on my television. I watch television twice per month if I have the time.

5. Why do you think certain TV shows are so popular?

I believe that television programmes become so popular because they are able to connect with the individual's nerves. Moreover, shows like Tarak Mehta ka Ooltaa Chashma combine humour with family values, resulting in their eventual popularity.
