Introduction

I believe that one should not work hard but always you should work smartly. There is one more person I know who has the same belief, that is my younger brother.

Who is this person?

My younger brother is an aspiring chef and he has a lot of skills related to this area. He has an immense amount of knowledge in this area compared to his age.

What the problem was?

Last year during the Diwali celebration we decided to host a party at our house but by mistake, I added a lot of salt to the curry. The curry was supposed to be the center of attraction and it seemed that everything was ruined.

How did he/she solve it?

My brother used his intellect and dipped a ball of flour in the curry and reheated the curry. The ball soaked all the excess salt from the curry and even added a bit of smoothness to it.

And explain why you think he/ she did it smartly?

Looking at the amount of curry it is very easy that anyone would get freaked out easily, yet my brother used his experience to tackle this situation. Rather than making the curry all over again, he used his intellect to solve the problem. He was the savior of that day.

Conclusion

That day my younger brother taught me a life lesson, that smart work is always valued more than hard work. He made me proud that day and saved me and my family from embarrassment.

Introduction

There are many situations from which I can portray my thoughts on this topic, yet I would like to put forth the event when my best friend Driti smartly resolved a difficult situation.

Who this person is?

Driti is my best friend since the age of 8. She has always been in my thick and thins. I can claim that she has never failed to be my partner in crime.

What was the problem?

It was my Arangetram, a performance in order to complete my Bharatnatyam, the half saree which is traditionally supposed to be worn by me during the performance was torn and was very much visible to anyone.

How did he/she solve it?

My friend stitched the saree in such a way that it looked like a flower, the unique design made in my saree not only looks comfortable but also a little elegant.

And explain why you think he/ she did it in a smart way?

To be very honest she does not have any skills when it comes to stitching, but being a techno-savvy herself she searched everything on youtube and made that flower from scratch.

Conclusion

I was on cloud nine and hugged Driti tightly. If she would have not stitched my dress properly the practice which I was doing for ages would have been in vain.

Introduction

I would like to share a secret and describe how my friend worked out a problem in a smart way and even saved me from getting scolded by my parents as I met with an accident that day.

Who is this person?

This person is one of my friends, who lives in society with me. He is the person I always look for to accompany me when I need to clear my mind and go out for a long drive.

What was the problem?

In one such situation, when we went to Athirapally falls and on the way back home we met with an accident, unfortunately. There was a huge dent on the front of the car, giant enough that after such a dreadful event my parents would never allow me to touch the car keys.

How did he/she solve it?

He made a few calls to car servicing companies but all of them were very far away, making it a difficult situation. Luckily he got the idea of throwing hot water on the dent. This magically solved the problem, when we came back home there were no visible signs of the accident.

And explain why you think he/ she did it in a smart way?

To be very honest he could have lost his calm very easily but he retained himself. Instead of going to car service, he solved the problem in just 25 minutes.

Conclusion

Well, I was really scared and was clenching my hands. The way he handled the problem with his presence of mind taught me an important life lesson.

Introduction

Well, everyone has problems in their life, and dealing with them requires a great amount of courage and patience. Here I would like to share one such instance where my friend solved a problem in a wise way.

Who is this person?

His name is Kirtan. He is a computer engineer with astonishing innovative and presentation skills. He is very helpful and kind and is ready at any time to help his friends and neighbors. I remember the instance which was 1 year ago when his neighbor had a problem and he solved it with ease.

What was the problem?

The neighbor was trying to start his vehicle but he was unable to start even after trying it for half an hour. He tried each and every way to start the vehicle such as trying the choke method and the kick but it was of no help. He was so frustrated that he started yelling in society and everyone gathered there because of that.

How did he/she solve it?

After we saw that we tried to help him. To be precise I was a bit confused looking at the condition of that vehicle but my friend got the problem at the very second. He just removed the spark plug which generates the spark while trying to start the vehicle. He cleaned it and after placing it in the correct way the vehicle got started and everyone praised him for that.

And explain why you think he/ she did it in a smart way?

I think it was very smart of him because at that time no one even tried to help the neighbor due to his anger issues. However, just because of his helpful nature he was able to help him. Moreover, he is calm and composed in difficult situations and due to his reasoning skills, he solved it in a very smart way.

Conclusion

Thus, this was the only situation where I got motivated and inspired by the way he solved the problem.
