

Describe a person who help others - Model answer 1

Introduction

It is difficult to find people who are willing to help others without expecting anything in return.

Who is this person?

Today, I'd like to talk about my neighbour, who volunteers to help others in his spare time. His name is Param. He lives in my neighborhood with his family. Not only does he help poor people, but also his family. Mr. Param is tall and handsome, he has a master's degree in Computer Science and works for an IT company.

How often this person helps others?

As he has a kind heart and good intentions, he tries to spend as much time as possible educating the underprivileged after work and on weekends and holidays.

How this person helps others?

Instead of returning home to rest, he goes to a private school after work and teaches poor children for free. He teaches 12th-grade students and assists them in choosing the best career path after graduation.

Why this person helps others?

As we are aware, illiteracy is an alarming factor in the world today and it needs to be addressed as soon as possible. Param also has the same agenda and hence works towards the same.

How do you feel about this person?

I am very proud of this individual because he is doing excellent work. I always admire his great work towards society and poor people.

Conclusion

To be very honest, param is my inspiration in many ways and I look up to him for the way he helps others and expects nothing in return because very few people can do that.

Describe a person who help others - Model answer 2

Introduction

We live in a world full of people of various personalities and attitudes. Some people find fulfillment in achieving success, while others find fulfillment in helping others.

Who is this person?

Today, I'd like to talk about one friend of mine who is among the rare people who are willing to help others. His name is Prince and he is 30 now. He is a fitness freak and loves to work out in the gym.

How often this person helps others?

As he is really interested in fitness, he also wants to encourage more and more people to engage in it. Whenever he has free time from college, such as half-days, he goes to parks or public places to instruct people.

How this person helps others?

Actually, he is a student, studying Bachelor's in Computer Science. So he often gets plenty of free time and he utilizes his time wisely for other people. Every evening he goes to the parks and gardens around his house to train people who are overweight or unfit. Because in modern times, street food and junk food have affected everyone's health majorly and this issue needs to be addressed as soon as possible.

Why this person helps others?

According to him, individuals in the present world are consuming more junk and unhealthy food, which is detrimental to everyone's health and physique. Therefore, his goal is to assist as many people as possible for the benefit of society.

How do you feel about this person?

Overall, whenever I see him helping others, I am inspired to do the same. He is, in my opinion, an inspiration to young people. I am proud to call him a friend.

Conclusion

In my opinion, there are very few people like Prince, so everybody should take small steps forward to help others. It will help society a lot if everyone steps in.

Describe a person who help others - Model answer 3Introduction

In my lifetime, I've encountered a great number of kind-hearted individuals. They provide money, food, and clothing to those in need. Here, I'd like to discuss one of them. Her name is Pratiti, and she is a childhood friend of mine.

Who is this person?

If I were to describe her, I would say that she is the most gorgeous girl. Her hair is dark and her eyes are brown and bright, which indeed attracts every man. Also, she is never late for appointments and meetings. She is respectful of others and believes in honesty. In addition, I am most captivated by her fashion sense.

How often this person helps others?

She helps people in a lot of different ways. She gives her most of the time to spread awareness among the society like more than 50% of the day and even more on weekends.

How this person helps others?

Moreover, she is the leader of a youth group in my town. She inspires others to save nature. She encouraged others to cultivate more plants. I admire her commitment to environmental protection. Additionally, she aids others in times of need. In addition, she provides food and clothing to the needy.

Why this person helps others?

According to her, pollution and global warming are increasing rapidly day by day and a lot of NGOs are working towards the betterment of the environment but as per her opinion she also holds equal responsibility towards mother nature and needs to spread awareness as much as possible.

How do you feel about this person?

Furthermore, we almost meet on a daily basis and have fruitful discussions about raising public awareness. We also exchange a lot of ideas and opinions about social issues like the environment, pollution, and so on. I just think her passion for raising awareness among the public to save the environment and help the poor is incredible.

Conclusion

According to my viewpoint, everyone in the village should have the same hunger to save mother nature because we all share a common environment and it is our duty to make sure we don't harm it. Also, help poor people with all the necessary items they need in their day-to-day routine.

Describe a person who help others - Model answer 4

Introduction

To give you a perfect answer to your question, I would say that I can think of a specific person who I think is kind and who is always ready to help others, no matter the time or place.

Who is this person?

The name of the kind hearted person whom I am going to talk about is Driti. She is very much captivated and involved in charity work and she is a friend of mine. Even though she is in her late 20s, she wants to make a change in the world.

How often this person helps others?

Everyone can learn or acquire any skill at any age. Consequently, she devotes two hours to caring for impoverished children and one hour to the homeless. I adore this quality she possesses. She engages in this exercise five times per week.

How this person helps others?

One thing I like about her is that she works hard to help homeless kids and uses her own money to set up a night school where kids from poor families can learn basic skills. I've seen her work hard to help kids and homeless people, which makes her different from others.

Why this person helps others?

As we are aware that poverty and lack of proper education is at its peak and the government has already laid plans and schemes to reduce the same but as per her, she thinks that, if we are well equipped with the knowledge and resources, then we should also step up to contribute towards the good.

How do you feel about this person?

From my perspective, Driti naturally has a helping nature, since she has devoted her time, resources, and energy to assisting others. Considering the types of problems plaguing society, we need more selfless individuals like her who would help those in need. I feel delighted and proud to have her as my friend.

Conclusion

I would conclude that she is an inspiration for the current generation. When I discuss her, I feel inspired to contribute to society as well.